A word from Marie-Gabrielle Ménard

Dear fellow citizens, summer is (finally) here!

In HRE, the terraces are buzzing, lineups are growing at the ice cream shops and parks are once again becoming playgrounds and gathering places. It's no secret: summer in the neighbourhood is exciting, lively and deeply human.

ONE YEAR ALREADY — THANK YOU!

Around this time last year, you placed your trust in me to represent you in Ottawa—an honour that carries great responsibility. I've put my heart into this role, serving with dedication and sincerity. The past few months in Hochelaga—Rosemont-Est have been marked by inspiring encounters, honest conversations and a collective commitment to advancing local priorities.

In Ottawa, I will continue to amplify your voices.

A recurring concern I hear from many of you is the rising cost of living. To help households navigate current challenges, the Government of Canada has introduced several measures to put more money back in people's pockets:

- Grocery assistance has been paid to more than 12 million people since June 5.
- Non-sufficient fund fees have been capped at $10 since March 12.
- The National School Food Program is now permanent.
- The federal fuel excise tax on gasoline has been suspended until September 7.

In addition, the new federal agency, Build Canada Homes, aims to accelerate the construction of affordable housing.

REMINDER — Have you filed your tax return? If so, don't forget to renew your enrolment in the Canadian Dental Care Plan to continue to receive coverage. If you need assistance, my team will be happy to help.

MG OUT & ABOUT — Recently, in my role as Parliamentary Secretary, I had the great pleasure of taking part in the launch of the 20th Trans Pride Festival, the event marking the 45th anniversary of Aide aux Trans du Québec (ATQ), as well as Women Techmakers Montréal 2026 and the Women Entrepreneurship Knowledge Hub (Montréal). These meaningful gatherings—both celebratory and purposeful—highlight the progress we've made in advancing gender equality, while reminding us of the work that remains to be done to build a truly just and inclusive society.

Over the past few weeks, I've had the opportunity to take part in various activities that truly reflect the vitality and variety of initiatives taking place in our community:

- ♥ Easter lunch at the Centre d'entraide le Rameau d'Olivier
- ♥ Visit to the seedling greenhouse at the Cuisine Collective d'Hochelaga-Maisonneuve
- ♥ Meeting with the team at the Port of Montréal
- ♥ Celebrating the 20th season of Ombres Folles
- ♥ Meeting with Isabelle Ducharme, recipient of the Canada's Volunteer Award
- ♥ Opening ceremony of the World Boccia Cup at Maurice-Richard Arena
- ♥ Stop at the Centre Communautaire Hochelaga bazaar
- ♥ Visit to GRIS-Montréal
- ♥ Keynote at the 38th ESTim Gala hosted by the Chambre de commerce de l'Est de Montréal

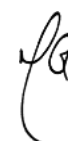

WELCOME TO HRE — This spring, I had the honour of presenting more than a hundred citizenship certificates. Each ceremony is a profoundly human and moving experience, shaped by life journeys marked by courage, resilience and hope. Welcoming these new citizens into our community is also a celebration of what brings us together.

SUMMER'S HERE! — Now that the House of Commons is on summer recess, I'm looking forward to spending even more time connecting with constituents in the community. HRE, I wish you a wonderful start to the summer and encourage you to explore the rich cultural, community, recreational and commercial offerings that make our neighbourhood shine!

See you soon!

Skilled trades training and employability

The government is investing $6 billion to recruit, train and integrate 100,000 people in the skilled trades by 2031.

What this means for you:

- more Red Seal-certified workers and better access to well-paying jobs;
- faster pathways to certification, cutting Red Seal training time in half;
- strong financial support while you train, including $400 per week, up to a total of $16,000, on top of Employment Insurance benefits; and
- a $5,000 completion bonus to reward apprentices who earn their certification.

The Government of Canada is committed to training more workers in collaboration with its partners, including other levels of government, Indigenous peoples, unions, businesses, and the Canadian Armed Forces (CAF).

$125 million to fight homelessness

The Government of Canada is extending the Unsheltered Homelessness and Encampments Initiative (UHEI), helping support people experiencing homelessness and expand transitional housing.

$51 billion to improve infrastructure

The Build Communities Strong Fund, in partnership with provinces and municipalities, seeks to accelerate infrastructure projects related to:

- housing
- educational institutions
- public transit
- community, sports and cultural centres
- water systems
- health care facilities

Objective: Build stronger, more vibrant communities across the country.

$1.5 billion in emergency support for Canadian businesses

In response to unjustified tariffs imposed by the United States, the federal government is stepping up with expanded support for Canadian businesses through the Business Development Bank of Canada (BDC) and regional development agencies.

- Targeted support for businesses in the steel, aluminum and copper sectors
- $1 billion in loans through the BDC
- An additional $500 million to support all SMEs across the country

“The new measures . . . will protect workers and ensure companies have the tools and financing they need to keep operating.”

– The Honourable Mélanie Joly, Minister of Industry and Minister responsible for Canada Economic Development for Quebec Regions

$3.8 billion to protect nature

The Government of Canada has unveiled its new strategy to protect natural environments.

$3.8 billion over five years to:

- preserve 30% of land and marine environments by 2030;
- establish new national parks and protected areas; and
- protect and support the recovery of species at risk.

$755 million for sport and parasport in Canada

From playground to podium, $755 million invested in the national sports ecosystem.

This investment will:

- expand access to affordable, safe and inclusive sports programs;
- support national federations and Team Canada athletes on their high-performance journey;
- develop community infrastructure; and
- attract major sporting events to the country.
